

Microneedling + PRP

Collagen Induction Therapy (CIT) also called Microneedling uses a device to create micro-wounds in the dermis. These micro-injuries trigger the bodies natural healing process, producing new collage and elastin.

The result is improved skin texture & laxity and a reduction in the appearance of wrinkles, stretch marks and acne scars. These channels also allows the introduction of or bodies own PRP (Platelet Rich Plasma) to be driven deep into the dermis, increasing the skins utilisation of nutrients.

What is PRP?

Platelet Rich Plasma is the part of the blood that helps with the formation of a blood clot. These little "power houses" release proteins called growth factors which stimulate new collagen.

Who is a good candidate?

Anyone that wants to improve skin irregularities and look younger.

How many treatments do I need?

A single procedure will make a nice change but a series of 3-6 treatments is ideal for optimal results.

How much downtime will I experience?

The majority of patients' skin will be red and flushed for 12-24 hours.

When will I see results?

Within 2 weeks you will start to see change that will continue for 3 months.
